

CHILD SUPPORT SCHEDULE E
Deviation (Special Circumstances)

A. For each section completed, provide monthly amounts or other information as required.

Low Income Deviation

The Court or Jury has discretion to allow or not allow noncustodial parent to receive a Low Income Deviation that will reduce the Presumptive Amount of Child Support. If Low Income Deviation does not apply in this case, skip this section and begin at Line 2(a) of this Schedule.

NOTE: Low Income Deviation is entered as a positive number but treated as a subtraction when included with all other deviations. By use of this deviation, court or jury is not prohibited from granting an increase or decrease to the presumptive amount of child support by use of another deviation.	Court or Jury Allowable Deviations (only Court or Jury may enter an amount in (c) and (d))
--	--	--

<input type="checkbox"/>	To request Low Income Deviation, check the box at left. Continue to 1a.	(a)Mother	(b)Father	(c)Mother	(d)Father
1a.	Enter "Proposed Low Income Deviation amount" AS A POSITIVE NUMBER under noncustodial parent's column. Amount will be used unless 1b applies.	0	0	0	0
1b.	>If amount entered in Line 1a will make final child support obligation less than minimum order amount allowed when Low Income Deviation is granted, new deviation amount will display in Line 1b and be used in calculations. >If entry in Line 1a results in amount equal to or greater than minimum order allowed, Amount in Line 1a will automatically be used in the calculations.	0	0	0	0

DISCRETIONARY CHECK BOX FOR COURT OR JURY ONLY: Use to exclude or change deviation amount that displays in Line 1b. Enter "Discretionary amount allowed by Court/Jury" AS A POSITIVE NUMBER under noncustodial parent's column.

Explanation for Requesting a Low Income Deviation: Write in the box below any additional explanation as to why the noncustodial parent should be granted a Low Income Deviation. (Questions at Boxes B, C and D must also be answered for this deviation.)

High Income and Other Amounts

Enter a positive or negative (-) dollar amount in the appropriate column to increase or decrease the amount of child support. Only enter the amount of the deviation and put the deviation amount in the noncustodial parent's column. Only amounts listed in the noncustodial parent's column will affect the child support calculation.

2(a).	High Income - Combined Adjusted Income greater than $30,000/month from Line 2 on Child Support Worksheet .	0

Instructions for this section: Requested deviation amounts may be entered as a "positive (+)" number for an upward deviation or as a "negative (-)" number for downward deviation. Do not enter the monthly amount of expenses in Lines 2(b)-10; enter only amount(s) you want the court to consider as a requested deviation from the Presumptive Amount of Child Support. The Specific and Non-specific Deviation section does not represent a financial affidavit.	(a)Mother	(b)Father	Court or Jury Allowable Deviations
